HISTORICAL SKETCH

THE NEW YORK SOCIETY LIBRARY was founded by a number of prominent citizens of New York in 1754, who thought that "a public library would be very useful as well as ornamental to this city." A charter was obtained from George the Third of England in 1772. The Library continued to flourish till the breaking out of the American Revolution, when, during the occupation of New York by the British forces, the books were scattered, but in 1788 new Trustees were elected and business was resumed. The Library occupied a part of the City Hall till 1795, when it erected its own building at 33 Nassau Street. This was the first library building in New York. In 1836 the Nassau Street property was sold and a new building was erected at Broadway and Leonard Street, which the guide books of that period describe as one of the most imposing buildings in the United States.

In 1839 the New York Athenæum, a literary and scientific institution, was united with the Society Library and its shares exchanged for New York Society Library shares.

In 1853 the property at Leonard Street and Broadway was sold and in 1856 the Library moved into its present building at 109 University Place. The institution is free from debt, and, including the Library building and grounds appraised at $150,000, has an invested capital of $432,999.99, exclusive of books.

Although of Colonial origin, the Library is a pioneer in adopting new ideas, having the only free delivery system in New York City and a system of delivering books everywhere through the country by express and parcel post.

CHARLES EDWARD ANDERSON.
Chairman 1856.

Printed lists of members were issued in 1758, 1761, 1789, 1792, 1793, 1813, 1856 and 1881. On the Treasurer's register there are four classes of shares:

Par value	$25.00	subject to	$10.00	annual dues.
" "	75.00	" "	6.00	" "
" "	100.00	" "	4.00	" "
" "	150.00	free from all	annual dues.

The last class is the only kind of share which the Library now sells. It is not merely a life membership but is perpetual and transferable. The total number of shares is 734, of which 503 are perpetually free from all annual dues, 91 are $100.00, 67 are $75.00, and 73 are $25.00 shares. Of the $100.00 shares 45 are dormant and of the $75.00 shares 15 are dormant.

Besides the 734 members there are about 500 annual subscribers who use the Library.

It has never been the aim of the Society Library to make profits or pay cash dividends on shares. It is philanthropic in character, as its regulations are so liberal that it furnishes far more value in books and service than the payments of the members would permit. Bequests at different times have enabled the Trustees to pursue this policy. "Medicine for the soul" is the ideal of this Library as it was of the ancient Theban Library.

The Trustees are desirous of having a larger number of people share in the benefits of the Library, as it now has facilities for supplying more families with books. It is desirable to have about 1,000 shareholders. Members are being elected at the monthly meetings of the Board of Trustees on the payment of $150.00, and applications for shares should be addressed to the Trustees.

CHARLES RICHARD SWORDS.
Chairman 1857-58.
